A vertical grid consisting of 20 horizontal rows and 5 vertical columns. The first column of the grid is filled with a light gray color, while the other four columns are white. This creates a pattern where each row contains one light gray cell followed by four white cells.

A vertical grid consisting of 20 horizontal rows and 5 vertical columns. The first column of cells is filled with a light gray color, while the other four columns are white. This creates a pattern of alternating light gray and white vertical stripes across the grid.

A vertical grid consisting of 20 horizontal rows and 5 vertical columns, creating a total of 100 small squares. The grid is intended for handwriting practice, with each row providing a guide for letter height.

A 10x10 grid of squares. The shading pattern follows a specific rule: every third square in every second row is shaded gray. This means rows 2, 5, and 8 have a gray square at columns 3, 6, and 9 respectively. All other squares are white.
